A Christmas Letter

What a wonderful time of year this is. It's a time for memories, for families, for tears, for celebration. It is also our first Christmas in Haliburton County. David and I were able to trek through the bush knee deep in snow up in the hills of Blairhampton Heights to pick out just the right Christmas tree at just the right price. Our little St. Paul's Church was full for the Festival of Lessons and Carols. It was a chilly and snowy night as people arrived in the candlelit church to sing the old familiar carols and to hear the nine lessons read from the Scriptures telling the story of the Incarnation of God in the baby of Bethlehem. Members of the community read the lessons in turn preparing our hearts for the great Family Eucharist of Christmas Eve. For a moment all is peace and goodwill.

The miracle of Christmas in the twentieth century is that people everywhere find themselves infected by that message proclaimed by the angels so long ago. Men and women of little or no faith join for a moment with the most devout to pause and wonder at the miracle of Christmas. People are moved to acts of goodwill almost in spite of themselves, old grievances are set aside "because it is Christmas".

For most of us, alas, Christmas is a season we observe. It has a beginning and an end for us each year. After the festival is over, the trees are down and the decorations put away, it's business as usual. The ceasefires on the world's battlefronts end and men take up arms again. The miracle of God's gift of peace and goodwill are set aside for another year. It's rather like a precious gift given to an ungrateful child, fondled for a moment and then cast aside. But for some, Christmas will not end; for each year it is but a renewal of hope, and adds brightness to a life already lived in light. For them and in them "the light shines on in the darkness, and the darkness has never put it out".

May God grant you this year the fullness of inward peace and goodwill at Christmas to live in you the whole year through.

Andrew S. Hutchison, Vicar, Anglican Parish of Kinmount and Minden.

Lands & Forests Minister Meets Area Delegation

Messrs. Roy Windover, Warden of Haliburton County; Roy Brohm, Reeve of the Municipality of Dysart et al; Ted Campbell, Secretary-Manager of the Haliburton Highlands Chamber of Commerce; and Carman Wright, Chairman of Ways and Means of the Haliburton County Snowmobile Association, accompanied by Mr. R. Glen Hodgson, M.P.P., were received by the Honourable Rene Brunelle, Minister of the Ontario Department of Lands & Forests, on Thursday of last week in Toronto.

The purpose of the meeting was to discuss the recent closure of the Whitney Trail (through Algonquin Park) and to petition for its reopening.

The Honourable Minister was sympathetic and suggested that a brief be prepared and submitted to his department for consideration by the Parks Advisory Committee.

The delegation returned home optimistic, and they assure the County snowmobilers that such a brief will be prepared forthwith.

Briefs Of County Board Of Education

At the regular meeting of the Haliburton County Board of Education the following appointments were made:

Mr. Gerald Irish has received the appointment of Vice-Principal of the Haliburton Highlands Senior Elementary School. He will continue as Principal of the Dorset School until the end of this school year.

Mrs. Ruth Gorrie has been appointed Principal of the Victoria-Lakeview School. Mrs. Gorrie has been a teacher of primary students at Minden for many years.

In some parts of the County it has been difficult to hire supply teachers for the elementary schools. If there are any qualified teachers who would like to do supply work they should send their name, qualifications, address and telephone number to Mr. J. Douglas Hodgson, Director of Education.

The Board and the Haliburton District Association for the Mentally Retarded have been discussing the future of both the school and workshop for retarded children and adults. It has been decided that the retarded children will be located in one of the classrooms at the Lakeview School in September 1972. Also, the Haliburton District Association for the Mentally Retarded will be offered a room in the same school. This move is made possible because Hastings County — which has been sending half the enrolment for the Tory Hill School — are now going to establish their own school in the Bancroft area. Special busing has to be used with the school at Tory Hill, because the Minden and Haliburton children go against the direction of the busing for other schools. Since the high school buses come from most parts of the County to Haliburton Village, the retarded children can be transported there at little or no cost. It is expected that the savings in staffing, facilities and busing will approximate $15,000.00 to $20,000.00 per year.

The Board has received a letter from the Department of Manpower and Immigration indicating that their programme for an expenditure of $15,000.00 plus, under the Local Initiatives Programme, is being considered. It is the intention of the Board to spend whatever money is approved on brushing, clearing and cutting of nature trails on the property between the Haliburton Highlands Secondary School and the Haliburton Highlands Senior Elementary School.

Some Board members and officials will accompany members of the Dysart et al Council on Tuesday, December 21, to observe a Sewage Treatment Plant at Eganville. This plant is of the same type to be located at Haliburton and the visit is to ascertain the effect of a plant of this kind on the immediate environment.

Mr. J. F. Rouble, Principal of the Haliburton Highlands Secondary School, is progressing with the Board's plans for introducing the credit system in the secondary school in September 1972. The expected enrolment at the secondary school for September 1972 is approximately 670 students, which is a marked increase. The enrolment over the past decade has been between 500 and 600 — e.g.: 1963 - 509, and 1970 - 590.

Oral Communications Festival Contest Held At High School

The Oral Communications Festival, sponsored by the Ontario Public School Trustees' Association and Ontario Hydro, had a local contest at the Haliburton Highlands Secondary School on Monday, December 20. Winners compete in the zone finals to be held on March 1 in Pickering, Ontario, and each participant there will receive a recording of his or her choice. The winners also receive prize money and the opportunity of competing for the Ontario championship in Toronto.

There were seven contestants in the local contest: Mike Harrison and Penny Hartin in the prepared speech division, and Rick Wolkowski, John Crawford, Nancy Rittwage, Kirk Hewitt and Kathy Hodgson in the impromptu division.

The judges for the prepared speeches were Mr. John Stouffer, Mr. Bill Valentine and Gerry McElwain, while judging the impromptu were Mrs. Madden, Mr. Sid Cooper and Candice Bailey.

Mike Harrison placed second with a carefully researched and interesting talk on "Tourism in Haliburton", as Penny Hartin placed first with an original interpretation of the "Threat of Pollution". Among the impromptu speakers, John Crawford finished second with his opinions of the "Women's Liberation Movement" as Kathy Hodgson captured first with her reflections on "Mud".

Fire Safety Should Head Your Holiday Check-List

Fire safety precautions should head the list of every sensible family's preparations for Christmas, says Fire Chief D. B. (Joe) Iles of the Haliburton Fire Department, in a seasonal warning that a happy Christmas can change in a few seconds into a family tragedy, in homes where such precautions are neglected. The Fire Chief urged the public to exercise special care in the setting up and decoration of Christmas trees, and drew attention to the following points:

If plans call for a natural tree, it should be bought fresh and green, and kept outdoors or in an unheated garage before being brought into the home for decorating. Then, one or two inches should be cut diagonally from the butt, and the tree should be set up with the butt in water, which should be maintained above the level of the cut.

Check strings of electric lights carefully for worn insulation, broken plugs or loose bulb sockets. Only CSA-approved lighting sets and only non-flammable decorations should be used. Declare the tree a no-smoking area, and keep matches out of the hands of children.

Do not allow discarded gift wrappings to accumulate under the tree. Dispose of them as soon as the gifts are opened. Even a green tree will burn if ignited by burning paper around the base.

Set up the tree away from heat sources such as fireplaces, TV sets or radiators. Do not allow it to block access to doors or windows in the event of fire. Switch off tree lights at bedtime or when leaving the house.

Fire Chief Iles points out that tests have proved that the safest tree is a tree with its butt set in water. However, if a tree has dried out before it is set up, it cannot regain its safe moisture level. A dry tree can be ignited by a single match, to burn violently to a charred state in a few seconds.

Even artificial trees can be serious fire hazards. Metallic trees are conductors of electricity, and should not be decorated with strings of lights, but illuminated with floodlights. Some plastic trees, made from styrene materials, are flammable, unlike those made from polyvinyl-chloride.

All trees should be removed from the home as soon as possible after the Christmas celebrations.

Trappers' Fur Sale A Real Success

The Haliburton Trappers' Association held their first Raw Fur Sale of the season at Haliburton on Wednesday, December 15, at the Orange Hall, and it proved to be very good. Prices on all skins were excellent.

Beaver brought a top of $10.00, Fisher $75.00, Otter $60.00, Mink $6.00 to $10.00 each, and the other species also sold very well.

The top beaver skins were purchased by Mr. Vern Davis of Roblin for the account of International Fur Dealers of Montreal. Some 700 to 750 beaver skins were purchased by buyers coming from Parry Sound, Jackson's Point, Roblin and Montreal.

On a whole, beaver skins purchased at the sale brought an average to the trapper about $17.63 each.

Total buyers' receipts came to a total of $17,000.00 for the sale.

Snowmobilers Escape Drowning

Don (Joe) Iles and his son Mike of Haliburton escaped drowning on Sunday afternoon when the snowmobile on which they were riding went through the ice at North Lake. The snowmobile sank to the bottom of the lake while Mr. Iles and his son ended up in the cold water. Mr. Iles got his son out of the water and then, by shaking off his snowmobile boots, he swam to the edge of the ice to safety. The snowmobile at last report was still at the bottom of North Lake.

This should serve as a warning to all snowmobilers that the ice in the lakes is still thin in certain areas.

NO ECHO NEXT WEEK

We would like to take this opportunity to inform our readers, advertisers and correspondents that we will not be publishing a paper during Christmas and New Year's. This means that there will be no issue of the Echo next week. The office and plant will be closed during this time.

The next issue of the Echo will be dated January 6, 1972, and we will endeavour in the coming year to keep you up to date on what's new in the Highlands.

Lindsay Postmark On Area Mail Part Of Evaluation Program

Residents of Haliburton, Fenelon Falls or another ten district communities may be surprised this year to find their Christmas mail bears a Lindsay postmark although that mail was posted in their village.

There is an explanation for the place-name switch.

Lindsay Postmaster Gordon Southern says that Lindsay, for the first time, has been selected to act as terminal for 12 area post offices for Christmas mail in a cost evaluation program. After the trial, officials will decide whether there is any savings in operating such a terminal over allowing the other post offices to handle their own deluge.

One immediate result of the trial, said Mr. Southern, is that the Lindsay office has more mail to handle — something like 162,000 more cards to sort.

Or, on Monday of last week, the post office sorted out 37,000 cards from Lindsay and 38,000 from the other dozen post offices. On Tuesday, Lindsay residents turned in 46,000 items and another 40,000 came from the county post offices.

To handle the deluge, 48 part-time workers have been engaged, about the same number as in former years.

Although Christmas mailings this year are down five to seven per cent over last year, the extra load at Lindsay from the other areas had left the office one day behind schedule in cards.

The peak of Christmas mail had not then been reached, said Mr. Southern, but would probably hit on Monday.

But, fear not, he reassures everyone that all Christmas mail will be delivered by Friday night.

Haliburton Huskies On The Move After Trouncing Bancroft And Bobcaygeon In Junior 'D' Hockey Action

The Haliburton Huskies have served notice in the Central Ontario Junior 'D' Hockey League that they are on the move to capture first place for the third successive year, and did so with two decisive wins, one over Bobcaygeon on Friday night and then the Bancroft Jets here in Haliburton on Saturday night. John Parish was the big gun for the Huskies as he scored twice in Bobcaygeon as the Huskies dealt the Ti-Cats a 9-3 lacing and then scored three on Saturday night as the locals demolished the Bancroft club 9-5. The crowd was down to 293 at Haliburton, and it was a shame that more people couldn't see the Huskies at their hard-hitting best.

Although Christmas falls on a Saturday this year, the Huskies will still have their regular home game. The game that was scheduled for Saturday, January 1, has now been changed to Sunday night, January 2, at 7:30 p.m.

The Haliburton Huskies jumped into a 2-0 lead in the first minute of play at Bobcaygeon as Bob Woodcock scored on a breakaway and then Rick Wood followed with a similar play. This early lead shook the Ti-Cats and they never recovered. Bev Hicks, John Parish, Bill Leary and Jeff Campbell all scored to give the Haliburton team a 6-0 first period lead. The Ti-Cats then counted twice in the second period while the Huskies failed to score in the middle frame. Gerry McElwain, Bob Woodcock and John Parish finished out the scoring in the final twenty minutes as the Ti-Cats managed to score once more.

An early goal on Saturday night was the case once again as the Huskies jumped into the lead at 1:37; this time it was Rick Dunsford who tallied on a beautiful pass from Bob Woodcock. John Parish once again handed out several thundering checks which slowed down the speedy Bancroft players. It wasn't until the 11:25 mark that the Haliburton crew scored again, when Bob Woodcock was the marksman on a power play with Bill Leary and Gerry McElwain assisting. Dennis Good came up with an outstanding first period as he kept the Jets at bay. John Parish notched his first of three near the end of the period and Rick Wood finished out the scoring at 19:59 just as the buzzer sounded to end the period. Haliburton played a tremendous second stanza as they outskated, outhit and outscored the Jets — the defence were making their plays at the blueline and were able to get a piece of anyone that ventured into their territory. Larry LaPorte was one who played a strong game on defence. Bev Hicks scored at 5:30, and then John Parish connected twice more with blistering shots from the point. The third period was wide open as the hometown Huskies had a 7-1 cushion. The line of Palbiski, Dunne and Hawley did all the scoring for the Bancroft Jets as they got hot midway in the third and scored three goals in a minute and 20 seconds. This comeback was staged a little too late and fell a long way short as the Huskies added two more goals. Gerry McElwain notching both the final tallies for Haliburton. Although the Huskies played well, the Lakefield club is the one that they are aiming at and they get their chance to beat them next Sunday night in Havelock. Although winning both their games the Huskies still remain three points back as the Lakefield club won and tied over the weekend.

Remember the game coming up this Saturday night, December 25 (Christmas), as the Haliburton Huskies take on the Fenelon Falls Flyers. This should be an exciting game, and the Huskies are looking for an improvement in the crowd. Remember also that the prize for the "Name the Husky" Contest will be presented at this home game, so please be in attendance. There have been many people who have sent their entry and the judges are having quite a time picking out the most appropriate name. Be sure to take time out from the turkey and celebrations to see a good game of hockey.

Wilberforce Lose Weekend Games

The Wilberforce Lumberkings were defeated twice over the past weekend by the Fenelon Falls Flyers.

On Friday night the Fenelon Falls club won by a score of 7-3 as the scoring for the Flyers went to Griffin and Abercrombie with two each while Byrne, Bowers and Devitt counted for singles. Replaying for Wilberforce were Hoare with two and Tighe with one.

On Saturday night Fenelon Falls shut out Wilberforce by a score of 20-0. Scoring for Fenelon Falls were Griffin, Kimble and Byrne with three, Bowers, Abercrombie and Handley with two, and Spratt, Switzer, N. Nicholls and R. Nicholls with one goal each.

THE GHOSTS OF CHRISTMAS PAST

Looking forward to Christmas has become something less than unadulterated joy. The thrice-blasted cards, the seven-times-blasted tree with its inevitable crooked stump, the ever-increasing cost of gifts: these and other aspects of the festive season have turned the festive part of it, at least, into an exercise of hectic futility.

I think many will agree when I say that there's a huge sigh of relief on Christmas night when the last of the wrappings have been put away, the last of the dishes washed, and we can sit back, look at the lights, and listen to music. It's a lot easier on the nerves to look back on Christmases of the past. They were probably just as frantic, but in retrospect they have a sort of rosy glow about them.

There's one that still causes me a pang of remorse and shame. My mother was making the usual huge turkey dinner, with all its entails. We were to eat about four. Around two p.m., my kid brother and I sneaked, yes, sneaked off to the matinee. About the same time, my older brother and sister went for a long walk with a friend. None of us got home until about 5:30, and there was Mom stuck with the ruins of a magnificent dinner, on which she had toiled for hours. She didn't say anything, but I, for one, felt like a rat.

I was about ten, and it was the first time I ever realized how thoughtless and selfish kids can be. Which reminds me that my own two thoughtless, selfish brats will be home this Christmas. Hugh's a vegetarian and will have his little bag of whole brown rice. Kim's on some kind of a crazy diet. By some strange coincidence, the vegetarian becomes a carnivore and the diet goes out the window, when they're home. It's tempting to think of making them a nice nut salad, and cooking a small duck for their parents only.

Another Christmas I'll never forget was that of 1944, deep in the heart of Pomerania, behind barbed wire. We didn't have to worry about buying gifts, sending cards or making long-distance calls to relatives. Maybe that's why it was so much fun. Not even a tree to wrestle with.

We exchanged gifts. I gave a pair of gloves to one of the artists, and he gave me a caricature of myself. Someone else gave a pack of smokes and received a razor blade that had been used only one week.

And there was the Christmas dinner. We had saved every scrap we could from the last of the Red Cross parcels. We had two tins of salmon with delicious creamed sauce made from powdered milk. There were potatoes au gratin (wed hung onto a hunk of cheese). And there was that fantastic cake . . . crumbled Graham crackers and mashed turnips held together by a bit of marg, with two melted chocolate bars stirred in. It was cooked on top of the stove, and weighed about 18 pounds, one pound per man.

With dinner went kriegie brew. We'd saved enough prunes and sugar to make a potent potion (just add water and let it ferment for a couple of weeks).

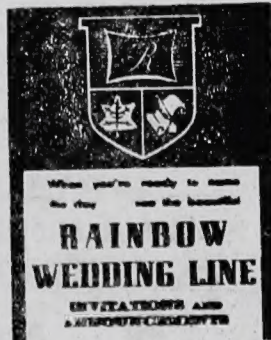

After scoffing the lot, we lay around on our bunks, with the firelight flickering from the battered stove. Did we talk about home and loved ones? We did not. We just lay there and groaned, like 18 pythons who had simultaneously swallowed 18 goats.

Most of us were sick half the night, but it was worth it. It was the only time for months that we hadn't been hungry, and the only time for months that we wouldn't be.

Other Christmases swarm into memory. I'll not forget the one when my wife was having the family, for the first time. She fussed all day and had everything just so. She was going to show her mother and aunts that she was no slouch of a housewife. Her eyes were darting everywhere, making sure that everything was in order. The atmosphere was about the same as that at Cape Kennedy when they're going to fire at the moon.

Finally, the supreme moment. She ushered everyone to the table and rather grandly ordered me to take the turkey out of the oven. I did, but the dam' pan was red hot and I dropped the whole works, gravy, grease, dressing and turkey, on the shining kitchen floor. I'll spare you the details, but I've never come closer to sudden death, even during the war.

In parting, I have three wishes for my loyal readers: that your Christmas tree doesn't fall over just after you've finished decorating; that you don't drop the turkey; and that you have the best and happiest Christmas you've ever had, with people you love.

Christ Or Santa Claus

Two children were playing, Upon the street one day; The little ones were talking, As I passed along my way.

"It ain't old Santa's birthday!" "Tis!" cried little Joe, An' 'taint no frame-up neither, For Mamma told me so!"

"I'll tell you straight", said Charlie, (With gesture and a pause), "It's Jesus Christ we're celebratin' And not a Santa Claus!"

I said, "Dear little children, Why do you fuss and fret, The Santa Claus you're talking of Has not been born yet!"

"He's but a myth, a fancy, He is not real at all — But Jesus Christ, Emmanuel, Was born in Bethlehem's stall."

"He came to earth from Heaven, From sin to set us free; And by His death redeemed us, On Calvary's cruel tree."

"Our Christmas gifts and blessings, From His dear heart we trace — Why do we grieve and slight Him And put Santa in His place!"

Then let us all, dear children, In this our Yuletide tryst, Not celebrate a Santa Claus, But commemorate our Christ.

— Mrs. Martha E. Thorkildson

Two Christmas Seasons Clayton P. Rogers

CARNARVON

As we approach the festive season I must express my thanks to a merciful God and the services of a dedicated physician that I am in the land of the living.

I have seen many Christmas seasons, to be exact, 85 of them — some filled with joy, many with sorrow, but all with hope.

On Christmas Eve in 1906 a Basket Social was held in the Carnarvon School, and as I had been working in the store operated by George P. Hart I was able to attend. We had a jolly time, with a small friendly crowd and only 10 or 12 baskets furnished by the ladies 17 to 70. Some of the fellows took me for a ride, as I remember paying $7.00, $8.00 or $9.00 or somewhere thereabouts, and I got Mrs. Phoebe Damions basket — a good one. At the time she was our nearest neighbour, and a real friendly soul. We had a fine friendly night — she was probably 70, I was 21.

R. H. Baker of Minden was the chairman and auctioneer, and I hoped to get a ride home with him as we then lived on the Anson farm, some two-and-a-half miles northwest of Minden. He seemed quite willing to put up with my company.

Then, as now, there were the two routes to Minden — what is now Highway 35 and the "high road" via Horseshoe Lake. We always took the former trail as it was a much better road, however, when we reached the division of the road at Valley Hi Mr. Baker said "I always take the high road, Clayton". Now, I could have gone with him and been much nearer home at Minden, but I was sure vexed as I felt he was doing me dirt, so I jumped out of his light sleigh and bid him goodnight and started a six-seven mile tramp in about five feet of fresh snow at midnight. I made home at about 2:00 or 2:15 Christmas morning.

Father called out, "That you, Clayton?". I replied with what strength I had left, that I was still alive and shortly in bed. On the kitchen table was a 12-pound turkey, home raised, dressed for the oven, and never was I tempted to eat raw meat. So much for tale number one.

Nearly 25 years later, on Christmas Eve in 1930, a concert was held in the hall erected by Sinclair Russell, opposite the Harrison home about 200 yards east of the Hitching Post.

On November 27th a group of men, some 125, gave or take a few, arrived and filled in the camp known as Camp 8 (situated on the site where John Harrison's dwelling and the Maebur Restaurant is). Their business, by pick and shovel and wheelbarrow, was to carve us out a better road from Miner's Bay to Dorset — there were 13 camps in all. They were a varied crew — the butcher, the baker and the candle-stick maker, the banker and the builder, the accountant and the auctioneer, the policeman and the barber — all without money and poorly clothed for this northern climate, and sent on this adventure to keep down demonstrations in the city streets.

They worked two days in November and charged three days of board, so the pay sheet received in December was a slim affair, but there is always a Christmas. About 10 days before Christmas I went into the old home where father retired to early in the evening, and proposed that we give these men a line of credit. He suggested we might be taking quite a chance; however, we agreed to open accounts for any who wished to buy to a reasonable extent. I advised the boys of the League of Nations, a Scot who had been over the seven seas, an Irishman McLeish by name, and other various types of Canadians out of work, including a fine specimen of man who had been on the Windsor Police Force.

But what about the concert. On Christmas Eve, Sinclair fired up the big stove and the boys from Camp 8 put on a concert for us. It was rather a strange assortment, and a good many cabins were backing their man as a step-dancer. There was Sinclair and Sam Magee and his hot time, but the crowning item I still remember was the rendering of that beautiful Russian ballad "The Volga Boat Song". This was rendered by four husky Russians, a long way from home and penniless, but the love of country still strong. I knew not a word they were saying, but the rendering of this national song was superb. When it was all over, we took the road home, and as I waited a few minutes at the door to take in the beauty of a Canadian winter night there drifted to my ears the melody of the Russian song as the four men swung down the road out of sight around the corner on the way to their camp.

I may take a holiday next week.

My thanks for the many kind words and acts furnished Violet and I during 1970, and with best Christmas wishes and a Happy New Year to all the Echo family.

Peace be with you!

P.S.: The amount of advance to these men at the time was just under $180.00 (I suppose now the goods purchased would be at least thrice that. The men received their December pay about January 13th, on a Saturday — I called Tom Brignall and he agreed if we were there by 3:00 o'clock he would pay. Dan Bud — the camp clerk — went with me and we cashed some $4,000.00 worth of paper, put each man's money in a separate envelope, drove home for a late supper. When we took the cash off that night, all paid except what was owed by the Russian who had trouble with the language, and he paid on Monday morning.

Christmas In The Valley

It's Christmas in the Valley, the land is touched with white, The children talk and dream of a candy cane delight, Parents fret and worry of that Yuletide season rush, The trees have bowed their branches, under a quiet sparkling hush, It's cold and crisp and clear, as the children play their games, To sleep they go a-dreaming, of many treasured names.

Like Santa Claus and Jack Frost and reindeer here and there, Of tiny elves with little shelves, bursting with Christmas fare, Stores are gaily decorated, and shoppers scurry around, Streets are filled with smiling faces, neath the valley's Christmas Crown, Preparations are all finished, everyone is full of cheer, The day is fast approaching, when we'll shed a happy tear.

The slopes are covered with skiers, curlers are throwing their stones, Children are telling their parents there is nothing better than Home, The Arenas are full of the skaters, and hockey enthusiasts too, Soon they'll join as a family together, giving presents from me to you, The hum of the snowmobile's motor, the jingle of a cutter's bells, The joy on the children's faces — the shouts, the cries and the yells.

The snow, the tree and the gifts; the family, the friends and the smiles, It's Christmas in the Valley, and friends are wishing you the best

For a happy and prosperous New Year, and the merriest Christmas yet;

Yes, it's Christmas in my village, time for thoughts of joy and kin,

And to be thankful that I'm living in my village home of Minden.

THE TELEPHONE rang just as Chris Jackson had climbed up on the stool to put the silver star on the very tip-top of the fragrant green fir tree.

"It's for you, Chris," Karen said a moment later. Some strange nan."

"They told me here at the drug store," a voice came to him over the wire, "that you might be able to fix up my car. Something's gone seriously wrong with the clutch, and my wife and I are on the way to Detroit for the holidays."

"I'm sorry, Sir, but we don't have night service at my garage. We're all locked up for the night, and my assistant has gone out of town."

"Can't you come down your self?" the voice persisted.

"Tell you what," Chris suggested. "There's a train through here at 10:00, and it's only an hour's run to Detroit. Why don't you take it on in to the city and leave your car here. I'll get at it first thing the morning after Christmas, and you can get someone to drive you down for it then."

"The hitch is," the stranger replied, "that we've got a new bicycle and a lot of other unwrapped gifts for our grandchildren crammed into the back seat. In fact, we're playing Santa, and we've simply got to get that stuff under their tree tonight."

Chris glanced into the living room and saw Karen holding the star, confidently waiting for him to return to their trimming party. He was about to say into the

A Finished Task

An hour and a half later he straightened up beside the gleaming black Cadillac, wiped his greasy hands on an old rag and said, "There you are, Mr. Baxter. You'll get that bicycle delivered in plenty of time now."

"Yes, if I can pry my wife loose from your house," the portly gentleman's eyes twinkled. "When I left there a few minutes ago, she and your Karen were in the midst of the coziest coffee huddle you ever saw. It certainly was nice of you to send us up there to wait."

"Oh, well, it was too cold in this garage tonight to have you people stand around for a couple of hours," Chris said diffidently.

"Maybe some day you'll have a garage with all the latest and the best," Mr. Baxter smiled. "Like warm waiting rooms and 24 hour service."

Chris sighed. "I'm just getting started, you know, and of course there's another older garage already established in the village."

"I know there is," Mr. Baxter looked grim. "As a matter of fact, I called them first, and they wouldn't open up tonight for love nor money. The owner was having a party or something and just couldn't be bothered."

"Well, you know how it is," Chris murmured.

A Good Return

"I know how you are," the gentleman said firmly. "And because of that I also know what I'm going to do. Here's my card—"

Chris looked at the white slip and let out a low whistle. "State Auto Club. Harold F. Baxter, 1st Vice President."

"We've been wondering about the advisability of designating an official garage for the Club in this vicinity, now that the new road goes through here," Mr. Baxter went on. "And after tonight, I know we need one."

We take this opportunity to wish everyone a

Christmas

Hope your Day is a happy one, filled with all the special joys of the holiday season.

Inside Story of Outside Lights

THE CHRISTMAS TREE appears pretty much the same from year to year, but variations can be made by changing the pattern of the lights or the type of tree.

Instead of random placement, lights can be in a spiral, a tent, or contour drape. Bare branches of outdoor trees can be lit to cast a lacy shadow on the house.

THE RANDOM PATTERN (left) is most usual. Tent style has lights fastened to wires running from tip of tree or a pole to ground. Spiral and contour require closely spaced bulbs, easily done by overlapping two light strings.

BARE branches need about five lights for every foot of height. On a larger tree, a 25-light set is used for every five feet of tree 10 feet from ground. Lights should be UL listed for outdoors.

Can You Size Up Kith and Kin?

AT A FAMILY Christmas dinner there were two sisters and their two brothers, two mothers and their two sons, two single girls and their mothers, two fathers and their two daughters, two grandmothers and their two granddaughters, and, lastly, two husbands and their wives. Sounds like a crowd, doesn't it? Yet all of them were seated at one normal-sized table, for the total was six. How could that be? Answer: There were two widows, each of whom had a son. Each had married the son of the other. By these second marriages, a daughter-in-law had had, by these second marriages, a daughter-in-law.

IS EVERYBODY HAPPY? Well, not quite. There are two dozen persons pictured in the diagram above and all but one is smiling. You are asked to take a nose count of persons present and to point out the unhappy face. Hint: Turn the diagram every which way to find all the faces, natch.

Cup O'Kindness

Sipping
from the Wassail
Bowl
Recalls
the Auld
Lang Syne

With its roots in the Saturnalia, Wassail mellowed into family respectability.

'BE THOU WELL' has real meaning when used as a toast with the wassail bowl. The expression translates from the Old English "was hail," as one Anglo-Saxon would bid another to "be healthy." The brew in the bowl was good for what ailed you.

And ale, warmed, spiced and sweetened, was once the principal ingredient of the wassail bowl. It was called lamb's wool, and the head of a house in ancient England would take a sip and then pass the bowl to family and guests. Many persons used the New Year's ceremony on either Christmas or Twelfth Night.

A full-bodied wine gradually replaced ale in most wassail recipes. The ingredients of a respectable 19th century wassail consisted of 10 grains of mace, 46 grains of cloves, 37 grains of cardamoms, 28 grains of cinnamon, 12 grains of nutmeg, 48 grains of ginger, 49 grains of coriander seeds—these were simmered in a cup of water and added for each bottle of port, sherry or madeira along with a half pound or so of sugar. Three egg yolks and two egg whites per bottle were whisked up in the mixture as it heated in a saucepan. After beating frothed it, roasted apples were added.

Such a mixture readily fortifies holiday good feeling. The bowl is passed (or individual cups), and a toasting song salutes such merry objects as a horse's right ear, a cow's tail, fair maids and good fellows with a: "Wassail! Wassail! over the town."

Better Beware — You Can't Win!

A CHRISTMAS shopper says he saw this happen on a busy street corner. "I say," said a bumptious individual to a devious-looking stranger, "Can you tell me how to get to Blank Street?"

"Well," was the reply, "take the third turn on the left, first to the right, second to the right again, fourth to the left, first to right, fifth to the left, cut across square, pass through the crescent, take the second to the left, and you'll get it. If those directions are wrong, I'll give you a dollar, provided you'll give me a dollar if they are right."

The stranger agreed, jotted down the directions and followed them. After an hour he was startled to arrive at the place where he had asked the question, and to see the same man standing there.

"Why did you direct me wrongly?" he asked.

The man insisted that he had given him the right directions, demanded his dollar and received it. Why?

Answer: They were on Blank Street to start.

Warm and sincere greetings, from all of us to all of you, and many thanks, too.

PRENTICE'S SHOPPING CENTRE

WEST GUILFORD, ONTARIO

By Shirley Sargent

RALPH RANSOME, a forceful looking, dark-haired man of about fifty, left the office early Christmas Eve. There was no use staying, he reflected almost bitterly, the office staff had been having a Christmas party since noon on company time. His family accused him of not having any Christmas spirit. Well, the office staff had too much of it.

The gaily decorated streets were lighted as he walked along the downtown area. Hurrying crowds seemed to be in a gay mood. Ralph remembered the Christmas of his own youth. He lived on a ranch with four other brothers and sisters, an aunt, two fatherless cousins and his parents. With that many mouths to feed, they were lucky to find a dime, an orange, outs and a hand-knit pair of socks in their stockings.

He felt excited. This was fun and challenging, too.

Now it was vastly different. Ralph thought. Christmas was commercial and presents elaborate, often useless. Molly, his wife, bought the gifts for their three children. A less brilliantly lighted store window attracted him. Sports equipment was exhibited. Ralph remembered his boy's shout of pleasure last Christmas when he had opened something he wanted particularly. "Gee, dad, how did you know? Just exactly what I wanted."

And Ralph had to say, in honesty, "Thank your mother, son, I just work here."

Julie, his nineteen-year-old, had burst out, "Oh, daddy, it just isn't any fun when you don't take part. You don't even know what you're giving us."

After All, He Paid

Well, who paid for it? Ralph thought now. So long as they got what they wanted . . . but did they? Maybe Julie and Jim had been trying to show him that they wanted something from him. Something he picked out. Ralph thought again of his boyhood presents that had been made especially for him. Why, he realized, that was what made them special.

The children were right then. All he did was pay for their gifts. This year he could pay double and take a chance that he would choose things they liked. It was supposed to be the thought, not the gift that counted anyway. Why, last Christmas it was that Jim had given him that awful pipe rack. But Ralph had accepted it with pleasure and still displayed it in a prominent place because Jim had worked hard to make something he could use. And the ill-fitting, hand-knitted socks from Martha. Those gifts had meant more to him than any store-bought package could. He turned and headed for the store.

Getting The Spirit

Ralph shopped carefully among the jostling crowds. He thought carefully as to whether the gift would be practical or not, appreciated or not. Molly was first and that was easy for Ralph knew she had wanted a watch for years. The children were harder. Julie was in college. She had everything. No, wait. She loved music, the type Ralph had no patience for. A Brahms symphony wasn't entirely practical, but he knew it would be appreciated.

He felt excited. This was fun. Challenging too. Other shoppers' faces reflected his own growing excitement. Next, year, he vowed, he and Molly would shop together. He backtracked to the camera department. Martha, their seven-year-old, was a photography fan. He bought several rolls of film and a "How To" book. Then, Jim. The boy lacked coordination, yet liked sports. A basketball and a punching bag. That ought to do it.

Later, as he let himself in the house, Ralph could hardly wait to see their faces tomorrow. But he didn't need to wait. As he placed the packages around the tree, Julie's delighted squeal brought the rest of the family in.

Merry Christmas

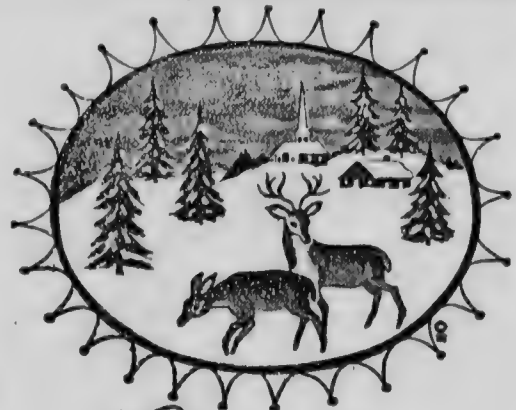

Greetings and sincere wishes for a holiday season full of the warmth of a good, old-fashioned Christmas.

CHURCH NEWS

RULER OF THE KINGDOM OF GOD

During his earthly ministry, Jesus constantly directed attention to the kingdom of God. He taught his followers to pray, "Let your kingdom come. Let your will take place, as in heaven, also upon earth." And he urged them to "keep on, then, seeking first the kingdom." — Matt. 6:10,33. Many of his parables drew attention to the kingdom, which is a government made up of Christ Jesus and 144,000 chosen ones from earth. (Matt. 9:35; Rev. 20:6). By his miracles of healing and raising the dead, he showed on a small scale what will take place on earth under the kingdom of God. At that time sickness will come to an end, blind eyes will be opened, deaf ears unstopped, and crippled arms and legs will be healed. What a blessing that will be. Revelation 21:4 says, "And he will wipe out every tear from their eyes and death will be no more, neither will mourning nor outcry nor pain be any more. The former things have passed away." And verse 5 says, "And the one seated on the throne said: 'Look! I am making all things new.' Also he says, 'Write, because these words are faithful and true.'"

Jesus himself is the one announced by Jehovah as ruler of the Kingdom. However, when Jesus returned to heaven, it was not the due time for him to exercise that kingly power. He must await his Father's appointed time. (Acts 2:34,36). Yet, he pointed forward to the time when he would return with Kingdom power, saying, "When the son of man arrives in his glory, and all the angels with him, then he will sit down on his glorious throne. And all the nations will be gathered before him and he will separate people one from another, just as a shepherd separates the sheep from the goats." Matthew 25:31, 32. We are living in that time of separating now. Soon Christ on his heavenly throne will destroy the wicked and deliver sheeplike ones who will inherit the earthly realm of the kingdom — Matt. 25:34,41,46. Then Christ Jesus and the 144,000 will rule over an earth filled with righteous people. As Psalms 37:10,11, 29 says, "And just a little while longer and the wicked one will be no more. And you will certainly give attention to his place and he will not be. But the meek ones themselves will possess the earth, and they will indeed find their exquisite delight in the abundance of peace. The righteous themselves will possess the earth, and they will reside forever upon it."

By means of Jesus Christ blessings are available to all mankind, but we must exercise faith in him in order to receive them. (John 3:36). We must become his disciples and submit ourselves to him as our heavenly king. Will you do that? There are opposers who want to hinder you, but if you put your full trust in Jehovah you will without fail receive the blessings that God has in store for those who love him — Psalm 62:7,8.

Ray Zwidayk,
Haliburton.

WAS FOOT WASHING TO BE A CHURCH ORDINANCE?

The Best Interpreters of the meaning and intentions of the Saviour's language recorded in John 13:4-20 are the apostles of our Lord as they were under the guidance of the Holy Spirit. They interpreted the instructions concerning the Lord's Supper to be a congregational matter (Acts 2:42; Acts 20:7; 1 Cor. 2:20-24) and thus there can be no doubt. However, they did not so interpret the admonition to wash one another's feet. There is simply no account of the early church having a public foot washing.

It Was A Private, Personal Service. The only other reference about foot washing is listed along with other individual duties and acts of hospitality. Hear Paul as he discusses "widows indeed": "Let not a widow be taken into the number under threescore years old, having been the wife of one man, well reported of for good works; if she have brought up children, if she have lodged strangers, if she have washed the saints' feet, if she have relieved the afflicted, if she have diligently followed every good work." (1 Tim. 5:9-10). It was a social duty to be performed when needed and hence is the only way that it should be observed now.

Jesus Did Not Institute Foot Washing. The history of foot washing as an act of hospitality is ancient. Look up the following references: Gen. 18:3-5; Gen. 19:2; Gen. 24:32; Gen. 43:24; 1 Sam. 25:41; 11 Sam. 2:8; Judg. 19:21. It was a universal custom to give water to wash and bathe the feet. And when special honour wished to be conferred, the servants washed the feet of the guests that were honoured.

Jesus Did Give A New Meaning To An Old Custom: Jesus taught that every Christian should perform even the humblest of services and He demonstrated this by giving us an example to follow. The parallel accounts in Luke 22:23-27 and Matthew 20:26-27 show the setting of the foot washing incident. There was "strife among them (the disciples), which of them should be accounted the greatest." But Jesus (their Lord — Jno. 13:13) gave them an eye-opening live example of humility and concluded with this: "Verily, verily, I say unto you, the servant is not greater than his Lord; neither he that is sent greater than he that sent him." Then Jesus said "If ye know these things, happy are ye if ye do them" (13:16-17). This proves that the Lord meant for His foot washing demonstration to be understood in a far greater way than just the literal actual act because they all could plainly see what He had done (one act) but He says "If ye know these things (plural), happy are ye if ye do them (plural things)." All Christians are to practice humility.

Everyone Can Get Into the Act - Baking a

Gingerbread House

THE SMELL OF GINGERBREAD in the air portends of good things to come for Christmas. Someone is making a gingerbread house, and perhaps, lucky children are helping mix the dough, beat the frosting, or cut out the pieces of the house.

Any extra dough can be used to cut men for tree decorations or just eating.

The pattern is made by drawing lines on a grid apart with a ruler, and copying the pattern below, a square at a time, on a larger scale.

AFTER CUTTING THE PIECES of the gingerbread house, peel away the trim areas without moving the cookies. If rock candy windows are made, the pieces of candy do not have to be broken exactly to fit the spaces because separate pieces will solidify from the oven heat. Sugar mortar should be stirred constantly with a wooden spoon—it gets very hot!

GINGERBREAD DOUGH
5½ cups sifted all-purpose flour
1 tsp. baking soda
1 tsp. salt
3 tsp. ground cinnamon
2 tsp. ground ginger

2 tsp. ground clove
1 tsp. ground nutmeg
1 cup shortening
1 cup sugar
1 cup molasses
1 egg
Sift the first seven ingredients onto wax paper.

Beat shortening and sugar until fluffy; beat in molasses and egg. Add flour mixture to make stiff dough and chill overnight so it's firm for rolling.

THE DOUGH IS READY, so roll a quarter of it to ¼-inch thickness on a flour-sprinkled piece of aluminum foil over a cookie sheet. Fit as many paper pattern pieces on the dough as you can with ½-inch between them, and cut with a sharp knife, carefully removing trims to save for rerolls. Rock candy chunks can be pressed into windows to make winter panes.

Bake in a slow oven (300 degrees) for about 20 minutes (cookies should feel firm). Edges that are not straight can be trimmed while the pieces are still warm. Cool on the cookie sheet for five minutes and then slide off the foil and cool completely.

Sugar mortar is made by spreading 1 cup of sugar in a heavy little skillet and heating slowly until sugar melts and begins to turn pale gold in color. Use it right away.

Dip the edges of the cool pieces into the mortar and press together as in the diagram. If a cookie piece should break, stick it back together with the mortar.

For the frosting, beat two egg whites with a teaspoon of lemon juice until they're foamy. Slowly beat in 3½ cups of sifted 10x confectioners' sugar until the mixture stands in peaks and can hold a knife mark. Food coloring can be added to portions of the frosting if desired, but white is best for most of the gingerbread house. Fit a pastry bag with a small star tip, fill with the frosting, and start the decoration.

Don't forget to dress up the gingerbread men, and to cover any cracks with frosting.

Gingerbread men made from leftover dough can be tree ornaments.

Pieces fit together from bottom up. Mortar should be reheated slowly every time it hardens in the pan.

IN MEMORIAM

HARRISON - In loving memory of a dear daughter, Helen Ruth Harrison, who passed away on December 22, 1968.

Three sad and lonely years have passed

Since our great sorrow fell,
The shock that we received that day

No one can ever tell;
God gave us courage to meet it
And strength to bear the blow,
And what it meant to lose you, Helen,

No one will ever know;
It's lonely here without you,
We miss you more each day,
For life is not the same to us
Since you were called away;
Your memory is our keepsake,
With which we'll never part,
God has you in His keeping,
We have you in our hearts.

Sadly missed and ever remembered by Mom and Dad.

RANSLEY - In loving memory of Henrietta Ransley, who passed away on December 26, 1970.

In our hearts your memory lingers,

Always tender, fond and true,
There's not a day, dear Grandma,
We do not think of you.

Always remembered by Shirley, Bob and Barbara Adams.

WOOD - In loving memory of a dear husband, father and grandfather, Wallace Wood, who passed away on December 18, 1962.

We keep in our hearts the love of the past,

For there it was planned forever to last,

For deep in our hearts, death to divine,
Parted, but we still walk side by side.

Always remembered by wife Mildred and Families.

Minden W.I. Hold Christmas Party

The Minden Women's Institute held their Christmas Party in the Orange Hall at Minden on Friday, December 17, and despite the snowy evening some 30 members and guests enjoyed the Christmas atmosphere.

After the President, Mrs. P. Clarke, called on the Secretary to call the roll, the ladies answered with a Christmas poem and these proved that there was a lot of thought put into the poems read.

Mrs. McArthur offered the blocks for a quilt, and a committee was appointed to help her get it ready to be quilted in the new year.

The Card Committee reported that 32 cards were sent since the While lunch was being prepared by the Committee, Miss Judy Horsley played selections on the piano and Christmas carols were sung. There was an exchange of gifts and the ladies picked up their gifts from 'Secret Pals'.

Mrs. Lyman Cox announced the L.O.B.A. Card Party in the Orange Hall on the 27th.

The January meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. McArthur on Wednesday, January 19, at 2:00 p.m., with the roll call to be answered with stamped get well cards.

All the ladies then enjoyed the delicious buffet prepared, and after wishing one and all a Merry Christmas and Happy New Year they all went their various ways.
